AFFAIRS IN EUROPE.-The news brought by he Asia to the 15th inst cannot be couridered peaceful. The London conference of the great powers to settle the conflicting isbues growing out of the Danish war had effected nothing, and the divergence of views was such that it was appreher ded nothing would come of the meeting. It seems clear that Napolcon, for some purpose of his own, has thrown obstacles in the way of the settlement of this exceedingly complicated question. Meanwhile the bitterness of feeling in England toword the allies is constantly increasieg; and it is difficult to see how the Goreroment con resist the pressure in favor of intervention on behalf of Denmark. The seizere and transportation of Col. Arguelles, and the suppression of two prominent journals with the arrest of they trifling mistakes, but involve fundamen tal questions of national honor, and principle essential to public liberty and the duration of the very system of our government. That these acts meet the mnanimous condemnation of the press and the enlightened people (with iosignificant exception), is a startling fac: What is the character of an Adminis rogramme were carried out, they feared that so peace of the city would be disturbed. on the great questions of American lib crty and law thus meets the naiversa condemnation of the connery content with simply saying, "I disapprove," and yet give to the same erring men the iawould no doubt give the desired information at once. The deputation having intimated their approval of the course suggested by his Worship, retired, to return in a short time to receive the reply of the Bishop. Mayor Medialf then addressed and despatched n letter to Bishop Lynch as follows:

But it became apparent, after that, that the published pledges were only designed to gen that support until a certain measure of power war assured, and ness with which the party holding power is willing to turn even on those who have sustained its chosen leaders. The latest event in the bistory may therefore give cause for deep reflection. Whose turn will come next Is it safe to trust the government in such hands for four years more? Are not the act to which we refer, is not the whole history of racillation and change, a reason for serious thought on this question? The grand fault of the President and his party is this, that When they adopted the Executive judgsent and will as the only measure of right and wrong, they were adrift on that sea where to many nations have been wrecked. Rig-d edherence to the Constitution would have made the war more successful, would have kept the people united, would have saved the Union. The dark determination e North can now no longer be doubted, which is being met with a counter determina-tion such as the world never before witnessed. The fourth year of the war has now been fully ntered upon, and it finds the respective adver Let us consider for a few moments what has been done, is doing, and what yet remaies to c done before this terrible conflict is likely to be brought to a conclusion. According to luta which have been ascertained to be tolera bly correct, the amount of public debt already contracted by the North on account of this war is about 320 millions sterling. Such has heen the money cost, exclusive of what has been derived from the ordinary and extraordinary revenue of the country, exclusive of the private contributions by States, corporate bedies and individuals, in hounties, elothing, comforts, and a hundred other ways. If we add to this the eost in another sense, the loss of the productive labor of at least 500,000 men for three years, the sum total upon only our side will be something almost appaling, at the very least 500 millions sterling. Such then has been the expenditure for the time that is past, and it seems almost a miracle that a corle numbering orly some 2) millions should pave been able to make it, and stand in the osition which they now eccupy. We hear of geld rising, up and up till it has touched almost 190. But the wonder is that long ere his it has not been four or five hundred, that public credit has not collapsed and one unive d crash shattered it every where, and serious y disturbed the monetary equilibrium of Eu-cope. Instead of this we witness an almost unatural presperity in every department of trade and manufacturea. Never was such buoyancy known upon the bourse, such clasticity and expansion in every branch of business. Who can account for this? Mr. Sewand has told the world that it is the war that has done it all, that they are growing richer, stronger, greater, more rapidly than ever, and it is the war that is doing it. Whether the Sberidan American people believe it or not, they are reting as if they did—as if every gun fired, every li'e destroyed, produced a crop of gold a hundred fold. Nor is it perhaps wonderful ty of our people, and they are inquiring with earnestness and anxiety what these acts indicete with reference to the future of the country. NINETEENTH KENTUCKY INFARTRY .- This recliment has been for a long time past on dnfv near the lower Mississippi, and was with B nks in his disastrons Red river expedition. The portion of the regiment whih escaped capture on that occasion, the Danville Tribnne says, has been transferred to the Army of the Petomac via New Orleans. There is no regiment in the service from our State that has gene over more ground or endured more fatigning outres than the 19th. We take great pleasure in presenting the following letter from Colonel William J. Landram, of the 19th. which contains the latest direct iotelligence we have received from the regiment: SIMSPORT, LA., May 19, 1864. For the satisfaction of the f tends and relatives of the officers and soldiers of the 4.5 division, 13th army corps, who were engage in the battle of Mansfield or Sabine Cross roads, on the 8th ultimo, I would respectfully ask that you publish this note. The regiment of this division engaged were the 19th Kentneky, 23d Wisconsin, 67th Indiana, 77th and 130th Illinois, 48th, 83f, and 96th Ohio. The batteries were the 'Ohicago Mercantile,' Nome's Massachusetts, and Klanss's 1st Indi Onr whole force engaged dld not exceed in infantry 2,500, that of the enemy being 20,one and a half to two honrs—resulting in our deleat. The chief loss sustained was by the h Kentucky, 48th Ohio, 77th and 130th

I am satisfied that our loss in killed and wounded was not near so large as in prisoners —for whilst our men were holding the enemy in front, they were rifling our knapsacks to the rear. Nothing but the overwhelming force of the enemy caused the distater; for our men longht with a desperation worthy of the heroes of Vicksburg. Such is the testi-mony of the commander of the department, as well as Gen. Rsnsom, Gen. Franklin, and every other general officer present. Or the circumstances leading to the engagement, it is improper to speak, as it is cootrary to military rule to publish official reports. It sufficient to say that in all we did we simply obeyed orders.

Col. J. W. Vance, 96th Ohio, commanding 2d brigade, was killed. Col. Frank Emerson, 67th Indisra, commanding 1st brigade, was wounded and captured. Lient. Col. John Cowar, commanding 19th Keptucky, was wounded in the armand captured. His wound, as well as that of Col. Emerson, is not dangerous. Major Mann, of the 19.h Kentucky, is a prisoner, and not hurt. Adjutant Geo. Rue is reported as wounded in the head. Licutenant Colonel Lindsey, 48th Ohio, is wounded and a prisoner. Major Berring, of said regiment, is reported killed. Major Reid, who commanded the 130th Illinols, was wounded and has since died.

BURNING OF INS NAVAL WHARP BOAT AT Mounn City. - The Cairo Democrat gives the following particulars in relation to the fire at Mound City:

A few minutes bereafter he wes dragged from his berth allost suffocated, minus a valuable gold watch and about two bundred and fifty dollars in greenbacks. So be states to us. Several thers had narrow escapes by way of the roof, be gangway being literally impregnated with he bleze and smoke. Paymaster Boggs was, it is supposed, seri-usly injured in the effort to save his funds und papers, hy the inhalation of fire, and also and his hands hadly barned. It was not known at the time our reporter left the ground whether he succeeded in saving anyhing or not. The loss is variously estimated, each seeming to differ materially from the other. Capt. Pennock, commander of the fleet, gave it as his opinion at the time of the fire that the loss would not exceed $200,000. The property destroyed consisted chieff of cordage, canvas, chip chandlery, and the cheets of the officers and men on board. No manitions were kept on hoerd. Several guns were destroyed, which, however, the Captain said, were of ot much practical value. Eech one with whom we conversed seemed to have a different idea as to the origin of the ire. One said it was the fiendish work of the ocenniary; another that it was the effect of a lightning stroke, and another that it was spontuneous combustion. Either of the latter two are plausible. At the time the fire was disred a heavy electric seem was raging; and the fact that the fire originated in a paint room, amongst the highly impregnated com-tustible materials there stored, and the snitry reat of the day, is a fair presumption in favo of spontaneous comhostion. As to its being the work of an incendiary, we deem it ridiculous, as watchmen were patrolling the boat all the time. As soon as it was found the boat could not

The 24th inst. we witnessed a sharp engagement between the U. S. steemer Diana and a rebel battery of eight guus, at Leeland's Landing, Arkansas, just below and in sight of Greenville, Mississippi. The steamer Delta, a cotton boat, in attempting to pass up the river wes fired upon by artillery, at Columbia, Arkansas, and reported the lact to the tin-clad No. 11, then lying off Greenville, asking for a convoy, and was referred by her to Oolonel Currie, then ly-ing at Greenville with his three hoats, Diana, Baltic, and Adams. In the meantime the steemer Longworth, loaded with passengers and a heavy freight of Governmen stores, camo down, reporting being fired npon at Columbia, Arkansas, by intantry and artillery, receiving some ten or twelve shots from artillery, but fortunately no one was injured. ailing to cepture her here, they hurried their a cistance from Columbia to Leeland's Landing of about three-lontks of a mile. Here they expected to make a sure ing of capturing the Longworth, but e Colonel discovered their design in time to make a slight alteration in the rehei pregremme. He ordered the Baltic to he lashed to the Longworth, and both to put on all steam they could carry, and run the block-ade, while he, with the Diane, would engage and receive the fire of the battery. GEOD. PRENTICE! | Editors!

MONDAY, JUNE 6, 1864 At the last dates from the scene of operations of the two great armies ln front of Richmond, the situation was most intensely interesting and critical. We will express no oplnion in regard to it, except by saying that Gen. Grant, at the expense of some most bloody fighting, was uniformly successful up to the time of the withdrawal of the whols rebsl forces within their fortifications. And there, according to the latest accounts, the two huge armies were confronting each other, the will tempest of the greatest of battles might begin to flesh and roar. There comes a report of Lee's retreat within the inner fortifications of Richmond, but ws don't believe it. We think that it would bo a bad movement on his part, and that hs is too wise a General to adept an obviously unwiss policy. Ws have very little doubt of his determination to fight a desperate battle where his nrmy, behind its works, was confronting Grunt. We should be almost in despair if we believed that Grant would violently throw his glorious army, already more than doubly decimated, directly upon those rebel works in an attempt to storm them. We believe that his host would be dashed back in a fearfully shattered condition, and that, even if it were to succeed, success would be won at a horrlhle sacrifice. It has been said, that, if Grant has any fanlt, it is perhaps that he is too impetnous; but he hes almost uniformly managed with such prudence that his impetnosity has been a great element of victory. We are all content that he should take the time that he dcems best. The country has no disposition either to hurry him or to hold him back. The next desputches, which will probably be found on onr next page, are looked for with the most thrilling interest. And yet, after all, there may be nothing in them to thrill.

fall of opinions, and the philosophy of history is therefore the study of opinions in their chronological order. In those eras when convalsions are raging, which are the transition periods in the struggles between the rightand the wrong, and the culminating points in the offorts of ambition or despotism to ensuare or debase the people, the historian has the most difficult task to perform, If he is u patriot and seeks faithfully to record current events. He has to divest himself as far as possible of all partisanship, and to clear his mental vision from every film of prejudice; to be zealous nnnciation of the wrong, and to protect popular liherty from every invasion of fraud or force; or, failing to necomplish this, to place upon the register which is to transmit his mind, would, if touched npon even hriefly, swell our paragraph to an essay, while we started ont with the mere intention of directing attention to the sound opinions and aivice of the New York Journal of Commerce in an article on the invention of printing in the light of its effect on the political condition of the world. Our contomporary says:

History which was formerly the possession o the learned only, whose treasures of experience were searcely communicated to any other than priests and a few scholars among the laity, thereby became the proporty of the peo-ple and they were enabled to gather out of its stores the examples of former success and fail-ure. History became the lamp to guids the netion toward liberty. It showed them the whole story of human frailty and fuilnre, the ways to success, the easy paths to destruction. But the people of the most enlightened equa-tries on the fece of the earth have often failed to appreciate the value of their possession, and have suffered loss and shame as a couse.

To the American citizen English history is of priceless value. The long experience of the men who spoke and wrote our language, their creat over an angular priceless. their great career as a nation among the na-tions of the civilized world, their foreign and intestine difficulties, fends, contests, wars, the strnggles between kings and commons, ba-tween aristocracy and democracy, between contervatives and radicals, continuing through centuries, studied and pondered by states-men-all these resulted in the birth, growth, and strength of certain great principles on which public liberty and prosperity are based Upon these principles was built the majestic attructure of English law, commonly known as the British Constitution. Thus was oorn the right of jury triel, the right of persona' freedom from nrbitrary scizure, the doctrine that a mau's house is his castle, that every man is to be deemed innocent until duly conjucted or with the terror and the science of the conjucted of the science of the victed of guilt, that government should derive its strength from the people's support, and should never attempt to arouse a conflict hetween its powers and popular rights. Because they learned all this from history because the printing press gave contemporary as well as past history to the people; because it was the grand insurance of popular education and information concerning the acts of men in power, the liberty of the press became necessarily a fundamental portion of the people's rights. When our fathers formed the American Constitution they cred principles which English history had increa principles which Eaglish history had incorporated in English law. They gave us the gifts of his'oric wisdom. Shall we recklessly, madly throw them away? Shall we close our eyes to their value? Shall we allow men to deceive us by old eajoleries that have so often robbed nations of their freedom?

Let us beware lest the mistakes which history tell us have rapined kings shall be made.

tory tell us have ruined kings shall be made here and ruin the people who are the only sovereign. It matters nothing, in this great enbject, whether the folly of a political party destroys its power, the errors of a President ruin his chance of re-election, the mistakes of an Administration break down its strength.
The serious question is whether the majesty of the people is not itself in danger of nade or the people is not user in danger or under-going decapitation, and their governing pow-er subjecting itself to loss of crown and life. If the people follow the errors of such kings as Charles let them rest assured that popular overeignty will meet the fate that he met.

We can add nothing to the value of this admirable and patriotic advice. Lord Burleigh said: "England can never be ruined but by a parliament," and Burr, in his vale- | lamation upon taking up the march for Richdictory address, added, "nor the United States bnt by Congress." This seems to be prophetic, for the permicions effects of the acts of the meeting with the rebel forces, and his present present Congress, both those of commission | position. Some time ago, an election, so called of Governor of Louisiana took place in pursuance of a proclamation of General Banks who, it is to be presumed, issued the proclamation in conformity to instructions from Washirgton. Mr. Hahn, of New Orleans, was declosed clected, and he was regularly installed, and has been acting as Governor ever since. And now it is ennounced that General Banks, siuco his late whipping on Red river, has of our contemporary: been appointed Military Governor of Lonisiann. So Lonisiana has a pair of Governors, a civil one and a military one. She is richer in Guvernors than any other State in the country. But, if she thinks she hasn't got enough, we have no donbt that she might, not in vain, petition the President for more. Most of the characters are drawn with great eleverness, and a few in such clear onlines that we feel assured we have met them in real life. The hero und heroine, Mr. Olifford and Ethel Linton, are fine characters. Both possees the noblest qualities of mind and heart, and the reader will be in love with them from the first. CAPTAIN PEWELL AND HIS GANG OF THIEVES -STORES ROBBEN-JAIL BURNED-A PLET-MASTER'S HEAO SHAVEO .- A correspondent rites from Stanton, Powell county, Kcocky, ander date of June the lat. He states t on Saturday night, a hand of guerillas command of Captaiu Powell, who has obtained a local celebrity as a robber and desperadoe, visited the town and plundered many of the business houses. Many of the prominent Union citizens were placed under arrest, but a majority of them were treated in a civil manner. The postmaster, Mr. Georgs M. Pettit, a stanch and energetic Union man, was subjected to mnny indignities. The scoundrels shaved one side of his head and robbed him of his hat and toots. As an exense for the perpetration of the ontrage, they claimed that they were simply carrying out retaliatory measures. They said that Gen. John Morgan's head had been shaved by the Federal authorities, and that they were determined to treat all prominent Union prisoners ln thosame manner. They argued that Mr. Pettit was the leading Union mnn in the county, and it was no more than justice for him to submit to the penalty. Fine logic for thieves! In instice to Capt. Powell, our correspondent States that the outrage was perpetrated without the knowledge or sanction of the chief. As soon as his attention was called to the matter, he commanded his subordinates to stop their fiendish work. It is dne to this fact that Mr. Pettit only lost half of his locks. The object of the band seemed to be plunder, and not blood. The court house of Stanton was destroyed by this band soms weeks age. They finished their work of destruction on Saturday night by burning the county jail. They also overturned the office, a neat frame building standing the brow of a hill. It was raised from the ground by underpinning, eo it did not require "Family Pride," a novel by the author f "Pique," has just been published by Peterson & Brothers, of Philadelphia. It is written well and its plot possesses faseinnting interest as we find ourselves absorbed in it, although inhoat was lying in the river with orders to shell the place if occupied by them—that he we have reached only the seventh chapter. The work has a purpose, and from its pernsal we may learn how to regulate our passions and guide our affections. We suspect the etory is an old one, but still there is striking originality in its development.

The Henderson Reporter says one day ast week a gentleman of Daviess county went into the Provest Marshal's office in Owensboro and paid the commutation money or one of his negroes. But a little tims elapaen until the negro, who had been paid ont, offered himself as a volunteer and was ity do not capture or exterminate these bands accepted. The money was not rsfunded. The Reporter asks if it was a "military ne cessity" to retain the money and accept the darkey.

From the Rev. Jos. H. Kenaard, Pastor of the 10th DR. JACKSON: German Bitters, I depart for once from my neutain course to express my full conviction that, for general debitity of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fall; but neually, i d but not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above cause.

Yours, very respectfully.

Eighth below Coates street, Philadelphia.

From Rev. Warren Bandolph, Pastor of Boptis DR. O. M. JACKSON:

Dear Sir-Personal experience enables me to say that I regard the German Bitters prepared by yon as a most excellent medicine. In cases of severe cold and general debility I have been greatly benefited by the nase of the Bitlars, and doubt not they will produce similar effects on others.

Yours, truly,

WABBEN BANDOLPH,

From the Rev. J. M. Lyous, formerly Pasior of the olumbue (N. J.) and Mliestown (Pa.) Baptivt DR. C. M. JACKSON: DR. C. M. JACKSEN:

Dear Sir-I feel it a pleasure, thus of my own accord to lear testimony to the excellence of the Octoman Bitters. Some years since, being much afflicted with Dyspeysia, I need them with very ben-ficial resents. I have often recommended them to persons enfective by that termentieg disease, and have heard from them the most fastering testimoslals as to their great value. In cases of general debility i believe it to be a toalo that cannot be surpassed.

Frem the Roy, Thos, Winter, Pastor of Boxborough DE. JACKSON: DE. JACEBON:

Dear Sir-I feel it due to your excellent preparation, Mochand's German Bilters, to add my testimeny to the deceived reputation it has obtained. I have for years, at times, been troubled with great disorder is my bead and nervous system. I was advised by a friend to try a bottle of your German Bilters. I did so, and have experienced great and unexpected relief; my health has been very materially benefited. I coafidantly recommend the article where I meet with cases similar to my own, and have been assured by many of their good effects.

Respectfully yours.
